More resources online!

The Mason Health website offers more information, including a prenatal guide, suggestions for what to bring to the hospital, breastfeeding and lactation resources and much more. Go to www.MasonGeneral.com for information and many helpful links.

Breastfeeding support

At Mason Health, we support breastfeeding mothers. Our certified lactation specialists on staff can help to answer any questions or address any concerns.

We encourage pregnant women to purchase a breast pump at the start of the third trimester, so that they have a pump if they need one as soon as baby is born. Many women have access to free breast pumps through their insurance company, or the federal Women, Infants and Children (WIC) assistance program. Ask your provider for more information if you are unsure of how to procure a breast pump.

Visiting hours

Supervised children of family members or close friends are welcome to visit during regular Hospital visiting hours: 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m.*

All visitors, such as family members and friends who come to the hospital, and especially to The Birth Center, should be free of fever, coughing, sneezing, vomiting, diarrhea, or other contagious illnesses.

*Call the Birth Center during periods of viral outbreaks (such as COVID-19) to get up-to-date information on visitor guidelines.
