Transitional Care

When patients need care, Mason Health is here for them. Through the District's Transitional Care Program, Mason General Hospital in-patients who still need service after a hospital stay, such as physical therapy or wound care, are able to stay and receive their needed care.

What to Expect

Mason General Hospital is able to provide all necessary services with 24/7 access to our medical team and therapy available 7 days a week.

Most stays in Transitional Care are a few days to a few weeks, however, some patients may stay for up to 100 days.

If they are able, patients often leave their rooms, wear their own clothes and enjoy other activities that provide a more inviting experience than a traditional hospital stay.

Specialized Care

Providers at Mason Health work closely with patients and their families to determine whether the Transitional Care Program is the right option.

With on-site lab, radiology and immediate access to physicians, nurses, therapists and other caregivers, Mason Health delivers safe, high-quality and flexible Transitional Care.

When individuals are ready to return home, Mason Health can also help arrange for Home Care services.
